

I am urging you not to weaken New Jersey's Do No Call law. It is extremely annoying to be contacted by companies I have no desire to do business with & want nothing of what they're selling. Also, some companies would call two or three times within a week as if they don't keep any records as to who was already called, or as if they don't care. Being interrupted by a ringing telephone while trying to clean, meditate, read or relax is too annoying for words! If I want to do business with someone, I'll make the phone call! Thank you - Adele
